Jet Air in talks with Boeing, Airbus for $12-billion order

BLOOMBERG
December 2

The new owners of Jet Airways India Ltd. are in talks with Boeing and Airbus to purchase at least 100 narrow body jets for the carrier's fleet in a bid to revive the airline.

The winning bidders for Jet Airways in a State-run bankruptcy resolution process — Dubai-based, Indian-origin businessman Murari Lal Jalan and Florian Fritsch, the chairman of London-based financial advisory and alternative asset manager Kalrock Capital Management Ltd. — plan to start flights in the first three months of next year, Ankit Jalan, a representative for the consortium, said in an interview with Bloomberg News.

The group will invest around $200 million via equity and debt in the airline over the next six months, half a year earlier than originally planned, Jalan, who is Murari

Lal's nephew, said earlier this week.

Fleet Plans

Jet Airways is now left with a fleet of 11 planes, including Boeing 737s and 777s, as well as Airbus A330 jets. But those aircraft are mostly old and need to be sold and replaced with newer, more fuel-efficient ones, Jalan said. A deal for the most popular model of Boeing 737 Max jets could cost more than $12 billion, although discounts are common in large orders.

Options for the plane deal includes both outright purchase and leasing, Jalan said. While Airbus is looking at possible early delivery of its A320neo jets, Boeing may potentially relook at an old 225-plane order for 737 Max aircraft, which Jet Airways had placed before going belly up, Jalan said. A decision is expected by early next month.

driven or AI-driven company by mining tonnes of business data that is generated every minute," Gulipalli said, adding, "For instance, we are working with one of the world's largest restaurant chain and one of the largest India-based global steel manufacturers to solve their different business problems using different kinds of data."

Currently, 30 per cent of Tiger Analytics business comes from retail consumer-packaged goods (CPG), 30 per cent from the insurance sector and 20 per cent each from manufacturing and logistics and miscellaneous sectors. The company is seeing serious growth opportunities in banking and health-care sectors.

Revenue

On a geographical basis, the US accounts for about 80 per cent of the business followed by the Asia-Pacific (APAC) region.

"There is a dedicated effort to expand into Europe. We are seeing some initial success in the UK and to that effect we have also started an office in London. We will see European business growing over time," Gulipalli said. The 10-year-old company will also cross $100 million in annual revenue in the current fiscal. "Last 12 months, we have grown about 175 per cent. Next year, we will grow north of 100 per cent and we expect this growth trajectory to continue for five years," Gulipalli added.

Tiger Analytics is fully bootstrapped and profitable in every single quarter since its inception. The company is also looking to raise funds via an initial public offering (IPO) or private equity (PE) route to fuel its next phase of growth.
